2012 Pikes Peak Concours d'Elegance

7:00 A.M. Saturday morning. The feel of fall is in the air. The first of the Concours Committee arrive on site and there are already several cars waiting in the judging area of the Cheyenne Mountain Resort - unfortunately, they aren't Jaguars, or even British cars!

Not bothering to even lament the months of planning suddenly dashed to bits, Jack Humphrey and Larenda Hershey immediately move into Disaster Recovery mode and begin evaluating alternate locations for the soon to be arriving British Invasion.

Within mere minutes, a new area is selected and clean-up crews from the CMR are dispatched to transform a littered, disused corner of the resort into a stunningly beautiful venue for the rapidly unfolding Concours d'Elegance and British Motoring Festival. As Rocky Mountain Jaguar Club officers Deanie Kennedy and Cyndi Mumm arrive, the multi-level display areas are expertly evaluated and the newly formulated plan is set in motion.

By the time the Jaguars and British Motoring Festival participants arrive, a logistical nightmare has been transformed into "business as usual" and the 2012 Pikes Peak Concours d'Elegance moves gracefully into the history books as another shining success.
